Moves for More Changes Hamper Action on Draft

Senate Delays Action on Measure For Calling Out National Guard

Washington —(P)— Beset by demands that the Burke-Wadsworth military training bill be further restricted, the senate military committee agreed today to delay a vote on the measure until Monday and the senate put over until that day consideration of a bill for calling out the national guard.

The latest proposed restriction was advocated by Senator Lee (D-Okla.) with the support of Senator Bridges (R-N. H.). It would limit to 1,000,000 the number of men between 21 and 30, inclusive, who could be conscripted for training.

For consideration of this amendment the committee called war department officials to appear tomorrow and informally agreed that there would be no final vote on the Burke-Wadsworth bill until Monday.

A short time later in the senate, where the national guard bill had been scheduled for debate today, Senator McNary of Oregon, the Republican leader, announced that he had asked that the measure go over until Monday.

Democratic leader Barkley of Kentucky thereupon disclosed he had informed McNary that consideration would be delayed "to give all senators more time to study the bill."

Get Heavy Mail

Several of the lawmakers have reported an extraordinary heavy mail on the subject of compulsory service.

The limitation, suggested by Senator Lee (D-Okla.) and seconded by Senator Bridges (R-N. H.), would give the president specific authority to order conscription of 500,000 men between the ages of 21 and 30, inclusive, next October.

A further section of 500,000 men could be called early next year, although the date was not set in a rough draft of the amendment introduced at a closed committee session.

Other actions today included adoption of an amendment, by Senator Chandler (D-Ky.), for exemption of reserve officers training corps cadets, thus allowing them to complete their education and obtain reserve officers commission before being called for service.

Senator Guffey (D-Pa.) proposed that divinity students be exempted from the conscription bill's provisions.

Sections of the bill calling for registration of all males between 21 and 30 years, inclusive, would not be disturbed by the amendment, Bridges said.

Army officers previously had testified that from the 12,000,000 expected to register in this class, about 4,500,000 were expected to be available for training after all exemptions had been granted.

Discuss Trustships

President Roosevelt called in three of his top military and foreign affairs advisers for a conference expected to deal with the question of setting up trustships over threatened European possessions in this hemisphere.

The White House formally described the discussion as one which would be devoted to "hemispheric defense and national defense."

Summoned to the meeting were

Boeing Workers To Delay Strike

Seattle —(P)— Union employees of the Boeing Aircraft Corporation's three Seattle plants, acting on appeals that they do nothing to retard national defense production, voted last night to delay for at least ten days a threatened strike.

The workers, who are opposing a proposed reduction in wages in lower brackets, authorized their negotiations committee to continue their efforts to reach a settlement with the company.

Their decision came at a mass meeting, just an hour and a half before the midnight deadline they had set for the walkout. The workers voted to remain at their post shortly before a telegram was received from Secretary of Labor Perkins urging them to postpone the strike action.

As You Like Them

"Blond and bleached woods are in style for streamlined homes these days," says Walter Storey, artistic interior decorator. Strange, just now, when blondes, often bleached and frequently wooden, are losing out to brown and brunettes for home adornment. Maybe some Europeans have cornered the peroxide market, to look more Nordic. There was no "touching up" about this successful want-ad in The Post-Crescent.

Way Cleared for Stuka Raids on British Harbors

Nazis Claim English Channel Is Useless As Shipping Route

Berlin —(P)— Germany has completed "preliminary studies" for dive-bombing assaults on the British Isles and the concentrated stuka attack on Dover last Monday can be repeated endlessly at other vital British ports, German military observers declared today.

Nazi aviators regarded the port of Dover as out of commission for some time and the English channel as so thoroughly under German air patrol that it is useless as a shipping lane.

Observation planes reported at least three ships sunk in Dover harbor and said dock facilities and machinery largely were wrecked.

In turning to destruction of British ports to tighten the blockade of England, Germany considers Britain's trade and supply facilities the most vulnerable point in her defense, the military commentators said.

Freemasonry to be Banned in France, Nazi Radio Reports

Berlin —(P)— (via radio)— The German radio today quoted Colonel Francois de la Rocque, head of the semi-fascist Croix de feu organization, as saying freemasonry is expected to be prohibited in all of France.

The announcement took the form of a request for dissolution of freemasonry printed in the newspaper Le Petit Journal, in Vichy, France.

De la Rocque was quoted as saying that if the problem of freemasonry was not solved, the French government would be neglecting one of its most important questions and tolerating an evil from which France has suffered.

Before the Dover attack, the military commentators said, only ordinary bombers had visited the British Isles on missions which Reichsmarshal Herman Wilhelm Goering has called "armed exploratory flights."

Defer Invasion

These sources gave the impression that German strategy does not call for an immediate invasion of England by land forces.

Asked when "the major attack on England" would start, they replied:

"It has been under way ever since the French armistice. With the sea and air forces sinking more ships in a week than can be replaced in months, Germany can be satisfied that excellent progress is being made."

"Action against England must be of different character than that against France, for instance. In the case of France, millions of men were involved and it was a vast land action."

"Against England, at least for the time being, the attack must be carried out by a few thousand men of the air force, submarines and speedboats."

"But these few thousand are tightening the blockade about England."

Aid French Farmers

Vichy, France —(P)— The French government has set aside 2,000,000,000 francs for loans to farmers in the German-occupied zone to facilitate rapid resumption of farm work.

Molotoff Friendly to Nazis, Criticizes U. S.

Moscow —(P)— Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotoff told the Russian parliament today that soviet Russia "is not taking part in the war" and predicted its early intensification with "England, assisted by the United States," on the one hand fighting Germany and Italy on the other.

Recent events, including collapse of France, had only served to improve Russia's relations with Germany, Molotoff declared in a four months review of foreign relations, while saying better understanding with England could hardly be expected in view of past anti-soviet manifestations on the part of the British government.

"Turning to the United States, Molotoff said:

"I will not dwell on our relations with the United States of America if only for the reason that there is nothing good that can be said about them."

"We have learned that there are certain people in the United States who are not pleased with the successes of our foreign policy in the Baltic countries. But we must confess we are little concerned over this fact inasmuch as we cope with our tasks without the assistance of these displeased gentlemen."

"However, the fact that the authorities in the United States unlawfully placed an embargo on the gold which our state bank recently

Turkey Earthquake Toll Reaches 1,000

Ankara, Turkey —(P)— The death toll in the Anatolian earthquake Tuesday rose to over 1,000 today, with many more injured.

43 Killed in Train Disaster; Engineer Blamed for Crash

43 DIE IN HEAD-ON COLLISION—At least 43 persons were killed near Akron, Ohio, when a double-engine freight train and a gasoline-powered railroad coach collided head-on on the Pennsylvania railroad near Akron, O. Most of the dead were burned to death when the gasoline fuel of the shuttle coach burst into flames after the impact. Shown here is a view of the wreckage with the nose of the locomotive buried deep in the coach.

Council Votes to Build Hunter Pool After Heated Arguments

Attempts to Kill Proposal are Futile; Aldermen Vote 14 to 3

Aldermen last night voted 14 to 3 to build a Hunter Swimming pool at Erb park and authorized the mayor and city clerk to enter into contract with the Hunter Swimming Pool, Inc., Indianapolis, Ind.

The meeting started tranquilly but got hotter as it went along and was climaxed with accusations of "secret meetings and suggestion of 'one man government'."

Opposing the Hunter pool were Aldermen Douglas, Vanderheyden and Knuijt. Voting for the pool were Aldermen Keller, Wichman, Kittner, Rehfeldt, Franke, Doerflinger, Thompson, Feavel, Roemer, Brautigam, Deland, Weinkauf, Bogdan, and McGullan. Alderman Lutz was absent.

The Hunter pool selected by the council will be 150 feet in diameter and will cost $48,709 including engineering fees, of $9,103. It is saucer-shaped and circular with the shallow area around the circumference and the deep water and diving pier in the central area. A sand beach, 25 feet wide, and an 8-foot walk for spectators circles the pool. The bathhouse will be of frame construction with open showers and dressing rooms.

Building Contract

The resolution adopted by the council stipulated that the construction contract for the pool must be within 10 per cent of the estimate submitted by the engineering firm. If it isn't the city may reject all bids and will owe the Hunter company nothing.

To start the discussion, Alderman Douglas asked the mayor if the swimming pool committee specifically recommended a Hunter pool or just a circular pool. The clerk read the report which specified a Hunter pool.

Alderman Feavel didn't like the Hunter pool but said he'd vote for it because it would cost less than $50,000 and he wanted to see a pool in Appleton. He laughed at the idea that the pool would be used by

Japan Moves to Extend Control

Tokyo —(P)— The government of Premier Prince Fumimaro Kono announced today a plan for a brand new Japanese state, based on a sweeping totalitarianism at home and dedicated to an independent foreign policy which would extend Japan's domination southward over French Indo-China and the Dutch East Indies.

In a statement of policy the government outlined a strongly centralized and unified state designed for creation of "a new order for greater East Asia," with the yen bloc—Japan and her continental satellites whose currencies are based on the yen—as the foundation.

The statement failed to take Japan any closer to the Rome-Berlin axis despite the totalitarianism at home. It pulled Japan away from the other western powers, however, and called for an extensive rearmament program.

Given Life Term for Baseball Bat Murder

Milwaukee —(P)— Raymond White, Sr., 38, was sentenced last night to life imprisonment in the state penitentiary for the slaying of his wife, Helena, 32, with a baseball bat July 6.

Judge Max W. Nohl pronounced sentence after a municipal court jury found White guilty of first degree murder. White had pleaded innocent and his defense had been that he was insane.

The jury deliberated only 45 minutes.

The court denied a motion for a new trial.

Revamp Plans to Defend Britain

Remove Road Barriers To Speed Troop Shifts To Threatened Areas

London —(P)— A change in plans to defend Britain was disclosed today by an order of the new commander-in-chief, General Sir Alan Brooke, to remove many of the barriers which have been erected across roads throughout the island.

The order, reflecting a return to the traditional theory that attack is the best defense, calls for removal of the steel and concrete barriers to permit rapid movement of troops to any threatened sector.

The removal already is under way in north England, where all double road blocks have been ordered eliminated and single ones cut back.

The barriers were erected hurriedly two months ago at every point where it was thought German troop transport planes might be able to land in an attempt to seize strategic communication networks. At that time, when comparatively few trained British soldiers remained in Britain, barricade to barricade defense by available troops was considered advisable.

Now, observers explained, a trained and equipped army of several million men has converted the island into an armed camp. Therefore, barricades were considered not only unnecessary but a possible handicap which might act to an invader's advantage by preventing rapid shifting of British troops and supplies.

Camden Firemen Work In Blistering Heat In Search of Bodies

Camden, N. J. —(P)— Firemen turned to dynamite today to blast down the fire-scarred walls of a paint factory and speed the search for seven persons missing in the $2,000,000 blaze that destroyed a four-block area of downtown Camden.

Two were known dead from the flames which followed a series of explosions in the five-story R. M. Hollingshead company plant.

Twenty-one persons were in hospitals, four in serious condition and 67 houses were destroyed, leaving 124 families homeless.

Streams of water played on the smoking ruins all night as asbestos-clad firemen poked among the twisted steel girders and piles of brick in a search for the victims. Gas-masked against nauseating chemical fumes, they worked two at a time for 15-minute periods in the blistering heat. They gave up the search after several hours, however, fearing the walls would tumble.

British Cruiser Limp Into Brazilian Harbor

Rio de Janeiro —(P)— The heavily gunned British armed merchant cruiser Alcantara, damaged in a running sea fight with a German raider in the south Atlantic, steamed slowly into the harbor here at mid-morning.

It was reported that the 22,209-ton Alcantara would dock at shipyards on the island of Vianna for repairs.

Passengers Cremated as Gasoline Tanks Explode

Edward J. Flynn New Democratic Party Chairman

New Yorker Headed Committee to Name Successor to Farley

Washington —(P)— Edward J. Flynn of New York accepted today the chairmanship of the Democratic national committee effective Aug. 17.

Flynn's appointment to succeed James A. Farley as head of the committee to direct the party campaign, was made at a conference at the White House.

Flynn is well known for his local political activity in New York and has been a frequent consultant of President Roosevelt.

Farley, who will retire from the chairmanship of the national committee on Aug. 17, to operate the New York Yankee baseball system, announced Flynn's selection.

Others Mentioned

Others who had been mentioned included Frank C. Walker, New York business man and lawyer, Paul McNutt, federal security administrator and Senator Byrnes (D-S. C.).

Farley, Secretary Wallace, Democratic vice presidential nominee, and President Roosevelt made the decision at a conference with a committee named at the Chicago convention to pick a successor for Farley. Flynn headed that committee, and he was regarded as something of a dark horse in the speculation on the new chairman.

The White House said Flynn would have a statement "for the press shortly."

Aside from making the simple announcement that Flynn had agreed

Balkan Sees Accord in Balkan Controversies

Berlin —(P)— Watching developments at Bucharest with obvious satisfaction, authorized German sources predicted today that Rumania, Bulgaria and Hungary would settle their differences even while the European war was going on.

Three Blue Bloods Become Owners of Communist Organ

New York —(P)— Three women of distinguished American ancestry today became the owners of the Daily Worker, heretofore the official organ of the Communist party of the United States.

A statement said the women had formed the Freedom of the Press Company, Inc., which had purchased the Daily Worker and the Sunday Worker, adding: "We are the sole stockholders of that company and the only persons responsible for its formation."

Communist party leaders William Z. Foster, chairman, and Earl Browder, general secretary, declared that as of today the newspaper ceases to be "the official central organ of the Communist party." At the same time, they pledged the new owners "wholehearted" party support.

The new owners were listed as Mrs. Ferdinanda Reed, 63, granddaughter of the founder of the famed Brattleboro sanatorium Brattleboro, Vt.; Mrs. Caro Lloyd Strobell, 81, native of Pekin, Ill., and a Vassar graduate, and Mrs. Susan H. Woodruff, 71, native of Tenafly, N. J., and an alumna of Smith college.

The women asserted in a statement they had formed the new publishing company in order to preserve the paper "as a medium of free expression in the interest of the working people of America."

"We realize that under the impact of swift social upheaval this freedom can be preserved from attack only by free and constant examination in the light of ever-changing conditions."

The present editor of the Daily Worker is Clarence Hathaway, sentenced last June 14 to 30 days in jail and fined $500 on conviction of criminal libel in connection with a story the paper published. He was not mentioned in the change of ownership statements.

Akron, Ohio —(P)— Railroad investigators today blamed an engineman's failure to follow operating orders for the fiery death of 43 persons in 1940's second major train wreck.

They said failure to sidetrack a gasoline-electric coach led it to crash head-on with a 73-car freight train near here last night.

The steel coach instantly became a virtual furnace. Two members of the coach's crew and a trainman deadheading leaped to safety. All the others aboard burned to death. Five children were among the victims.

The coach's single engineman, Thomas L. Murtough, 49, was blamed by L. M. Wolcott, Cleveland trainmaster for the Pennsylvania railroad, on whose single-track Hudson-Akron line the crash occurred. Murtough, seriously injured, was unable to tell his story.

Wolcott, watching crews clear away the wreckage, declared: "The crew of the 'doodlebug' (the gasoline coach) and the crews of the freight train had orders to meet at Silver Lake, one mile north of the scene, and wait for the freight to pass. Murtough should have taken his train onto the siding there. For some reason he did not go onto the siding."

Disregarded Rules

After a preliminary investigation, E. W. Smith, vice president of the railroad, expressed a similar view and said the coach's crew also disregarded a "rigid" rule in failing to obtain permission from the block operator at Hudson before continuing on the main track.

In a statement at Pittsburgh he added: "With Engineman Murtough and Conductor (Harry) Shafer of the motor car badly injured in Akron hospitals, and with Baggage-master (Charles) Eidenbeck dead, it is impossible to determine now why these orders were disobeyed."

The freight train, northbound from Columbus, Ohio, telescoped the fore end of the 122,000-pound coach, and shoved it back in its wake for 200 yards. Flames spurted from the windows as its 250-gallon gasoline tanks exploded. Firemen poured water into the coach. Then they and volunteers went about the sickening two-hour task of removing bodies, many so burned that identification was difficult.

Coroner R. E. Amos, seeking to clear up the identifications, said the passengers "didn't have a chance in the world" to escape.

No Passengers Escape

Eyewitnesses related that flames enveloped the coach so fast that none of the passengers could escape. One man standing nearby said he heard no screams.

Officials estimated eight of the dead were railroad employees "dead-heading" home after concluding their runs. Most of the passenger victims were residents of the Akron district, although the coach, which shuttled the 12 miles from Hudson, Ohio, to Akron, had picked up passengers at Hudson from the Pennsylvania's Cleveland - Pittsburgh line.

It was the second big American railroad tragedy in four months. Thirty-one persons died in the wreck of the New York Central's Lake Shore limited at Little Falls, N. Y., April 19.

Fear Children on Distressed Ship

New York —(P)— The British steamer Theseus was reported by Mackay radio today to have sent out a distress signal saying she was being attacked by a submarine off the southwest coast of Ireland. No other details were immediately available.

The Theseus is a 6,527-ton passenger liner owned by the Ocean Steamship company, Ltd., of Liverpool.

The ship listed her position as latitude 51.48 north, longitude 21.21 west, which would put her 500 miles west of Foynes, Ireland.

The Theseus traded between Singapore and England before the war and was last reported at Marseille, France.

Her position indicated that she might be in a convoy bound for Canada, possibly with refugee children.

Japan Won't Accept New British Blockade

Tokyo —(P)— Via Radio — Japanese Ambassador Mamoru Shigemitsu in London will "certainly" protest sharply against Britain's new blockade of Europe, Domei, Japanese news agency, declared today.

The agency said Japan would not accept the new measure by which Japan's trade with Spain, Portugal and other neutrals stand to suffer.

Ambassador Shigemitsu has been instructed to seek clarification of the new order in council, described as "illegal," the agency said.

Priest Reviews Park Lectures in Closing Address

A brief summary of the points presented in his series of lectures at Pierce park every Wednesday evening for the last six weeks was given by the Rev. Anscar Parsons, O. M. Cap., in the final talk last night at the park. His subject was "Of What Value is the Church?"

"The greatest need in the world today is a strong moral authority, an unerring guide in matters of religion," Father Anscar said, adding that supplying this need is the chief claim of the church to be considered an institution of value to the modern world.

He spoke of the various persecutions which the church has survived through the ages, not because of great statesmanship, financial power or military genius, for, he said, the church had none of these.

Father Anscar quoted Claude G. Bowers, United States ambassador to Chile, who said last week, "Just as one tossed about in a raging sea, embarked on a boat that threatens to sink, turns hopefully to some Gibraltar looming serene and immovable in the turbulent waters, so now the lovers of peace and justice instinctively turn to the church for comfort and succor."

The series of lectures by Father Anscar were sponsored by Father Fitzmaurice council, Knights of Columbus.
